MILWAUKEE FAVORITES

Frozen Custard is popular in Milwaukee, don't mistake it for ice cream! The main difference is the use of eggs as an ingredient, and less air added in the process which results in a creamier, denser product. See the next page for some popular spots to try in Milwaukee.

Pizza in Milwaukee may not be as distinct as Chicago or New York style, but it's still delicious. Traditional Milwaukee pizza is cut in square rather than triangles and a thin crust. Restaurants with an * below serve Milwaukee style pizza.

Friday Fish fry is a popular tradition in Milwaukee which began from Catholic roots when the church asked parishioners to abstain from eating meat on Fridays. The tradition in Milwaukee stuck, and with easy access to Lake Michigan became a popular tradition. Everyone has their favorite fish fry, but we've listed a few of the top-rated in Milwaukee.

Breweries have always been a strong part of Milwaukee culture, and with the rise of craft beers and breweries in recent years it's hard to explore the city without coming across one or two. Historically Pabst, Miller and Lakefront were at the forefront of the brewery scene in Milwaukee but now there are dozens to choose from. As the legal drinking age is 21 years, please check with individual business if they allow entry to individuals under the age of 21
